

Opportunity to Withdraw an Application

Date

12/18

Once submitted to the dean, an application for promotion is automatically routed through the various faculty committees and administrative offices of the university regardless of the nature of the recommendations that may be made regarding the application for promotion unless the individual faculty member requests in writing that the application be withdrawn. This process constitutes an automatic review procedure for recommendations formulated within the University. The process of automatic review does not extend beyond the President's Office.